he would now wait until the court reached a decision in the case. The bill for a temporary injunction was filed against Frankel by Lower Merion Township.

"The plaintiff is reliably informed," declared the Township in its bill in equity, "that the defendant intends to commence immediately the construction of an apartment house at the southwest corner of Old Lancaster Rd. and North Latches Lane under the building permit issued on July 16, 1945."

The Township's bill pointed out that even though the permit had been issued by the Lower Merion building inspector there is a provision in the ordinance "that an appeal from the decision of an administrative officer of the township to the board of adjustment stays all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from."

The appeal from the action of the building inspector in issuing the permit was filed on July 24 and 25 with the Board of Adjustment of the Township by the Merion Civic Association and John P. Connelly.

The bill further declared: "On August 1, 1945 the Board of Township Commissioners adopted an amendment to the Lower Merion Zoning Ordinance of 1929, as amended, and by means of the said amendment reclassified a certain territory, including the site of the proposed apartment house, as R-3 Residence District."

of defendant's proposed apartment house, as R-3 Residence District instead of R-5 Residence District. Under this amendment an apartment house may not be erected at the southwest corner of Old Lancaster Rd. and North Latches Lane.

"The plaintiff submits," concluded the Township's bill, "that in view of this pending litigation wherein the Court will be called upon to decide whether it is lawful for the defendant to erect an apartment house on the site in question, the defendant should not be permitted to begin the construction of the apartment before your Honor's Court has had an opportunity to pass upon the issues involved in this pending litigation. If the defendant is not now prevented from erecting the apartment house, and subsequently the Court decides that the erection of an apartment is unlawful, irreparable injury will be suffered by all parties."

"That an injunction issue preliminary until hearing and perpetual thereafter, restraining and prohibiting the defendant from erecting an apartment house at the southwest corner of Old Lancaster Rd. and North Latches Lane."

Capt. Lanahan

ter was always about our ankles and commonly waisthigh even over our heads as the wind would rise. There was practically no sun preventing our drying or warming.

We lived daily on four or five ounces of water, four to six malted milk tablets or a spoonful of pork mixture, after two, I passed it up and a few biscuits which eventually were to saturated with salt water to eat.

Not knowing that we were being searched for or located was the most depressing problem. The radio of the ship had been destroyed, so we knew that was no source of information. One of the search planes saw two rafts beyond our vision but did not see us. So we were not encouraged greatly by seeing it in a distance. We were found by the frigate going to the recognized rafts, and covering a course projected along the direction of the current and wind, it was a clever job done perfectly.

Lands at Perth
After five additional days on the frigate, continuing the search, we were landed at the Western Australian port of Perth, and housed at the large U. S. Naval Receiving Station near by.

Our experiences were grim enough, but others out 23 and 32 days, had greater suffering. They were in boats having sails and attempted to reach land. We drifted 105 miles, the 23-day boat sailed 445 miles and the 32-day group 1400 miles.

There were many details that are best told in person and I'll save them. One final one is this: After using all its torpedoes on us the sub surfaced and cruised among the rafts and boats. It was an awful period for we could see it plainly within a few yards and expected it to strike and take prisoners. It did neither by the grace of God. We expected each night that it would return but was never seen again.

Other than immersion feet and hands and loss of weight, I was physically fit, and am completely recovered now. In fact, my inactivity and lush food of the past four months have made overweight our problem."

Capt. Lanahan has been a resident of Narberth for the past 30 years and since his graduation from Jefferson Medical college he has practiced medicine in Narberth. He was associated with Dr. M. C. Hinebaugh for a time.

Capt. Lanahan entered the service as a first lieutenant September 1, 1942. He was stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., and then transferred to the Blood Donor Center in Philadelphia after which he was returned to Aberdeen.

Performs Operation
In December, 1944, he went overseas and was on his way to India. On the trip out one of the ship's crewmen developed an acute appendix and Capt. Lanahan being the only doctor aboard operated though he is not a surgeon. The operation proved very successful.

After being rescued from the sea following the sinking he was taken to Perth, Australia, and

SUNDAY AFTERNOONS—CBS—4:30, EWT.

(Sponsored by 167 Electric Light and Power Companies)

Nelson Eddy, with orchestra leader Robert Armbruster and announcer Frank Graham on stage at Studio C, CBS, Hollywood, hear "The Electric Hour" every Sunday on your CBS Station—4:30, EWT; 3:30, CWT; 2:30, MWT; 1:30, PWT.

Welcome back to "The Electric Hour," Nelson. We missed you this summer.

Go on, I'll bet you say that to every harpist you meet. But thanks, Bob. It is good to be back.

Would you have a word of greeting for your announcer, Mr. Eddy?

Well, read my meter if it isn't Frank Graham! What's new in electric light and power, Frank?

I could let you in on some real news, Nelson. There's a great day coming, with more and better things than you ever dreamed of.

Mmmm. All run by electricity, I'll bet.

You said it. Cheap, dependable and plentiful electric power, produced under sound business management by taxpayer electric companies. What's more, the average family gets about twice as much electricity for its money today as it did fifteen years ago.

That's a fact, Nelson—and it's due to efficiency, experience and sound business management.

Amen to that! Now, gentlemen, shall we get to work?

Postwar Road Work

working a 50 hour week. Although municipalities do not come under the hours-of-work-a-week restrictions applied to industry, Rosenbaum said that the number of hours a week would be cut down if the employment situation became acute.

Most of the men who have applied for jobs in Haverford have been dismissed from war plants. Williams said he doubted if those applying could stand up under the strain of a laboring job.

Haverford pays 75 cents an hour for this type of work but only has a 45-hour week.

"If we should start any work this fall," said Williams, "most of it will be patching-up and maintaining things that we have caught up on the things we let slide."

None of the men who applied for jobs in Haverford were hired by Williams. The question of taking on more men and spending more money for such work would have to be discussed with the commissioners, he said.

Because of weather conditions, which make extensive highway work impossible during the winter, beginning of the postwar programs will be postponed to Spring. What work can be done with limited funds and manpower will be done in September and the early part of October, highway engineers said.

Brookline And Narberth Conceded Equal Chance In Third Games Sunday

Cantwell Outpitches Craig As Borough Falls, 4-0; Bill Ash Stars; Lions Finally Trap Hares in 10th, 7-5

The field in the race for the Main Line Baseball League championship will be narrowed down to two teams this Sunday.

With the preliminary playoffs all even it will be all or nothing when Narberth battles Manoa at Veterans Park, Brookline, and Ardmore tangles with Brookline at Ardmore in the third and deciding battles.

The two survivors will meet in a five-game series for the league pennant and The Record trophy a week later.

Manoa, which occupied first place throughout the regular season only to lose its first playoff game, returned to form last Sunday to bowl over Narberth, 4-0, at Narberth, while Ardmore rose to unexpected heights to hand Brookline a 7-5 defeat in 10 hectic innings at Brookline.

All four teams are confident that they'll finish on top this week; they'll be going all out in an effort to qualify for the finals and the promises the hardest fought and best baseball of the year.

Each manager is standing pat on his pitcher and his lineup. So it'll be Walt Cantwell for Manoa against Narberth's Jim Craig, as usual, and Brookline's Len Smith will be opposed by Bob McLeod, Ardmore's mainstay.

Cantwell went one up in his season's meetings with Craig when his Manoa mates bunched six of their 11 hits for all their four runs in the second inning of Sunday's game.

Cantwell, who fanned five and walked four, was touched for eight hits, but he was brilliant under pressure and Narberth was unable to ring the bell although it had two men in scoring positions in the fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth innings.

Bill Ash, the league's lead pitcher, saved Cantwell's skin in the sixth when he made a remarkable stop at first of Bill Craig's smash that was labeled for extra bases and would have meant at least two runs.

Ash also was one of the main factors in Manoa's big inning. His triple to deep right after Red Larkin had doubled scored the first run and he personally toted home the second run when Snyder fled out to right.

After Armstrong also fled out, Cantwell and Giampalmi came through with scratch singles and Cressman drove both home with a solid drive to center.

Larkin, Gwinn and Cantwell each had two hits for Manoa.

Ends and Guards Problems at L. M.

Sheppard, Mullin and Calvert Sparkle In First Scrimmage

Lower Merion High's first football scrimmage of the season was staged last Friday and, according to Coach Dick Mattis, disclosed glaring weaknesses at guard and end.

To offset that, however, the Maroon mentor yesterday revealed he was particularly pleased with the play of several newcomers, including former junior high and junior varsity candidates.

"We're weak at guard and end and at least one of each is needed to round out the first team," he announced. "Both guard positions and right end are wide open and I'm hoping some new, unheralded boys turn up."

"Perry Scott, our captain and only returning regular, looked particularly good in Friday's scrimmage. Len Sheppard, filled in nicely at fullback. He's only a sophomore and it's tough for a newcomer to catch on, but he appears to be tough and a natural ball player."

John Mullin, a 140-pound junior playing for the first time, also looked promising at right halfback. And Tom Calvert, who weighs only 135 and played with the Jayvies last season, displayed plenty of razzle at one of the backfield positions," Mattis concluded.

Lower Merion suffered only one casualty in the initial bodily contact drill. Pete Martin was injured when blocked out of a play, but is expected to return within a couple of weeks. Another scrimmage is scheduled for Sept. 14 with Episcopal Academy and one with Valley Forge is on tap.

Dave Maroney, switched from blocking back, has virtually clinched the center job. Frank Fabiani and Fred Selby are battling for right guard berth, with Jim Fleck flanking one or the other at right tackle. Jerry Haslan, a sophomore who looked particularly good Friday, and Jim Barr are other tackle prospects.

Captain Perry Scott, fullback in 1944, will play either quarter or left halfback this season. Bruce Hill is another quarter candidate. With Bob Davis, capable holdover, Dick Powell and Don Townsend available at halfback, Sheppard and John Hill are fullbacks.

At the troublesome terminal-post—right end—the L. M. coach is contemplating switching his son, Dick Mattis, Jr., to guard. Charlie Barr may prove Mattis' salvation at end, but won't be available until October 10. Meanwhile, Len Bohrer is battling for the job.

SPORTS SCENE

By L. M. FORD

It won't happen this year because equipment simply is not available, but you can mark it down as reasonably certain that Lower Merion High will enter the night football field in 1946.

Lower Merion's School Board is reliably reported to have okayed night football (or nocturnal tilts, as we sportswriters so cleverly put it), about the same time Dick Mattis was taking over as Maroon mentor. And this is Mattis' fifth season.

Asked his opinion of night games, Mattis didn't take time to draw a breath. "I'm wholeheartedly in favor of them," he declared. "I think we will be starting with it just as soon as we can get equipment. It's probably too late this year, but I believe we will go into that field in 1946."

"I think it's the only salvation of scholastic football, from a financial angle. We can't compete with Penn and other college teams playing on Saturday afternoons—too many of our alumni are Penn grads, for one thing."

"I think other schools eventually will come around to it. Norristown High has been playing almost every Friday night until the first of November for quite a few years, and has been drawing terrific crowds. They were able to pay off the cost of installation in almost the first year of operation."

It's estimated that a suitable plant can be constructed for $3,000. Mattis was asked why rented lights couldn't be procured in the event L. M. is unable to purchase its own equipment.

"Rented lights aren't at all satisfactory," he revealed. "They cast too many shadows on the field and must be shut off whenever it rains. I've officiated at many night games where they were employed and they can't compare in efficiency with permanent installations."

Collingdale, Prospect Park, Jenkintown and Pottstown High have been playing night games for several seasons. It has been pointed out that games under the lights, at least at the outset of the season, are much more comfortable for competitors, since Indian Summer heat is avoided.

On the debit side, objectors point out that schools playing night football usually have to give much greater guarantees to invading teams—which offset increased profits—and the lights must be maintained and serviced the year around even though they are used a maximum of two months.

Too, some School Board members object to junior tramping all around the countryside on the night of games, racing recklessly from one end of the county to the other in dad's car. They claim it's not good.

Whether Lower Merion rivals will be as quick to okay night competition is something else again. Haverford High's gladders pioneered night scholastic football with Cheltenham High, meeting the Panthers under the lights (and a dreary rain) at Temple Stadium about seven seasons ago. Soon after, Haverford solons ruled that the Fords couldn't engage in night football and it was necessary to suspend the series with Norristown for a few years on that account.

Harold Patten realized the greatest thrill in golfdom last Saturday when he scored a hole-in-one

A REPORT

Here's how the Telephone situation in Pennsylvania shapes up Today

MORE THAN 129,000 PEOPLE (the total is close to 2,000,000 in the United States) are now on our waiting lists for telephone service. Of these, about one-third are waiting because of shortages of telephone instruments, and the remainder are waiting because new central office equipment—switchboards and dial mechanisms—and wire and cable are needed.

You see, there are three shortages—telephones, switchboards, wire. Some towns are short in all three; some are short in two; all need telephone instruments.

Specifically, 277 of the 461 central offices in our territory simply do not have the facilities—switchboards and dial equipment—necessary to serve all the applicants for telephone service.

And again, it will be necessary to install nearly 400,000 miles of wire in cable to connect telephones with our central offices, before we can give service to all those on our waiting lists.

* * *

But the Bell organization is not marking time, and every month will bring us closer to our goal. Production goes on even while reconversion is under way.

Western Electric, source of supply for the Bell system, is now turning out telephone instruments at a rate that is increasing each month . . . and out of the national pool, Pennsylvania's share will be 8,000 in September—50,000 by the end of the year. It could, and might, be more.

SO FAR AS TELEPHONE INSTRUMENTS ARE CONCERNED, WE WILL BE SUBSTANTIALLY IN THE CLEAR BY THE END OF 1945.

Installation of new equipment is already scheduled for 146 central offices.

Installation of wire and cable will step up as equipment is manufactured and as more and more telephone men come back from the war to their jobs.

In short, right now things are moving. Already the waiting lists are going down. There are fewer names on those lists today than there were at the peak, on June 30.

And in the next 12 months, Western Electric expects to employ more people and produce more equipment than in any peace-time year.

* * *

So that's how the telephone situation in Pennsylvania shapes up today. Transition from war to peace is a big job. But we're used to big jobs, and we know the importance of this one.

The job will be done, you may count on it, in a big way.
